

Invitation to Participate in the Final Transnational Conference of the Danube GeoHeCo Project

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are pleased to invite you to the Final Transnational Conference organized within the Danube GeoHeCo project, approved under the Interreg Danube Region Programme and co-funded by the European Union.

The conference will take place on May 20, 2026, at the Cultural Station "Svilara" in Novi Sad, Serbia, starting at 9:30 AM.

If your obligations prevent you from attending the conference in person, an online participation option will also be available. The link for online access is included in the Agenda of the Final Transnational Conference.

The event will bring together project partners and relevant stakeholders from the Danube Region with the aim of presenting key project results, exchanging experiences, and discussing future directions and the application of solutions in the field of geothermal energy.

The Agenda is attached as a separate document.

Participation in the conference is free of charge; however, prior registration is required for on-line and in-person attendance.

Please confirm your participation by filling the REGISTRATION FORM

The event will be photographed and recorded (video and audio), and simultaneous interpretation between English and Serbian will be provided.

If you require any additional information, please feel free to contact us.

We look forward to your participation!

Sincerely,

Your Danube GeoHeCo Project Team
